

No answer is produced from memory alone: the contract is enforced before the researcher sees a single sentence.